

WHO WE ARE

Fun and discovery go hand in hand at Nashoba Regional School District's Extended Learning Program where creative choice is at the foundation of learning. At our before and after school programs in Bolton, Stow, and Lancaster, students are encouraged to explore, create, and delight in play! An important aspect of our Extended Learning Program is the emotional/social development of children.

Our caring staff, consisting of adults and dedicated high school aides led by Site Coordinators, are keenly aware of the developmental stages of children. Together, they guide children to problem solve, collaborate, and show compassion to others. Our mission is to provide diverse enrichment opportunities and recreational activities that expand the social, physical, creative and intellectual growth of our students through school, community, and family collaborations.

Inspiration and creativity flourish at our Extended Learning Program where students have the space and time to be kids!

THREE PILLARS OF ENRICHMENT

Communication

Whether students participate in one of the structured enrichment programs like ImagArena or chess, or play a sport outside or a board game inside, they learn essential communication skills. At live performances, like those put on by Mad Science, students ask thoughtful questions and practice respectfully voicing their ideas and opinions.

Community

Building community, a sense of citizenship, and cultural awareness are also important elements of our program. In support of this, all four sites take students on special field trips in the community. Various clubs like Homework Club, Lego Club, and Sewing Club help to connect students who have similar interests.

Physical and Emotional Well-Being

Students in Extended Learning are active! Whether playing soccer, doing archery, practicing yoga, or learning how to cook healthy meals at “Cook’s Corner,” students explore choices that involve physical movement and body awareness. Trying new things encourages our students develop confidence and boosts their self-esteem.
